GROWERS

El Jefe [grande] is a one liter bottle of Tempranillo produced from a single estate in Castilla y Leon (Zamorra) just south of Toro. The family has been growing grapes in this region for three generations. They time their harvest and ferment in breathable cement tanks to express the natural strength, sinewy agility, balance and fresh nature of Tempranillo of the area.

LAND

Sourced from a single family estate in the northern table lands "La Meseta," the elevated, high plains desert of Castilla y Leon. North of the ancient city of Salamanca and just south of the region of Toro.

FARMING

Trellised vines farmed in the south facing sloping vineyard located within a mountain bowl. Farmed naturally without any chemicals, but just enough water to keep the wine juicy. Harvested earlier for freshness and expression of fruit.

WINE

100% Tempranillo from the high plains vineyards of Castilla y Leon.
El Jefe (grande) is the Big Boss, we know who they are. So here's to them: an honest and solid red wine- deep, fresh and flexible enough to handle most days.
Fermented in traditional cement vats with no oak to expres soft, fresh tannins and purity of fruit. Only 12.5% Alcohol!

FOOD

Fish, Spicy Food, Pizza, Burgers. A Great Party Wine!
